Scholarship

“As a visually impaired student, there are many obstacles to overcome, but the rewards outweigh the challenges. Going to college has given me a new sense of purpose. Without Foundation Scholarship support, my goal to go to college would have been prevented.”

After losing her vision in one eye due to an inoperable brain tumor, Regina decided to enroll at Mercer to learn new skills. Although returning to school as a non-traditional, visually impaired student presented unforeseen challenges, Regina is optimistic about her future.

Regina is a member of the Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society and her passion for creating handmade pattern designs and dimensional art inspires her to continue at a four-year college in pursuit of a freelance career in surface pattern design and printmaking.
